SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 17, a bit off course but operating smoothly, passed the midway point of its voyage to the moon today.

Astronauts Eugene A. Cernan, Ronald E. Evans and Dr. Harrison H. Schmitt still were sleeping as they passed the midway point of 132,096 miles from both earth and moon at 6:36 a.m. EST.

Reds strike U.S. base in Thailand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon sources report Communist guerrillas recently attacked a base in Thailand from which U.S. Air Force technicians control electronic surveillance of North Vietnamese supply routes through southern Laos.

U.S. intelligence analysts suggest the small-arms attack on Nakhon Phanom early this week is linked with increased military activity by Thai Communists.

Reports reaching the Pentagon said one American officer was wounded in the attack on Nakhon Phanom but that facilities and aircraft at the base escaped damage.

While the attack was minor in scope, the intelligence analysts appeared concerned it might foreshadow more serious threats to about 49,000 American airmen and other servicemen stationed at seven Thai bases.

Attacks on U.S. bases in Thailand have been rare, and in the past Thais have blamed them mostly on North Vietnamese guerrillas.

But a U.S. intelligence report indicated a belief that the attack on Nakhon Phanom was staged by Thai Communists.

Some Thai officials long have forecast their country would come under increased Communist pressure from inside and outside its borders after the Indochina war ends, even though strong U.S. Air Force elements are expected to remain in Thailand for an indefinite period.

Nakhon Phanom, less than 10 miles from Laos, is one of the most important bases used by the U.S. Air Force because it is the site of a multimillion-dollar "infiltration surveillance center." From this center, equipped with computers and other advanced electronic equipment, Air Force technicians monitor sensors dropped along the Ho Chi Minh Trail by American war planes.

Life Magazine discontinuing

NEW YORK (AP) — Life magazine will discontinue publication with the issue of Dec. 29, Time, Inc. announced today.

The publisher said the 36-year-old magazine, famous for its pioneering use of news photographs, will be discontinued because of "continuing losses."

The year-end double issue will mark the close of the weekly magazine founded by Henry Luce.

Life was published at "very substantial deficits in 1969 and 1970 and smaller deficits in 1971 and 1972," the publisher said.

"As our projections for 1973 took shape, however, they showed a resumption of heavy losses, and the indications for 1974 were even more unfavorable," he added.

At about 10:45 a.m., grimaced staff members of the magazine began to gather for a meeting on the eighth floor of the Time-Life Building at Sixth Avenue and 50th Street.

About 250 to 300 staff workers sat in chairs or stood against the walls, waiting for the meeting, which was closed to outsiders, to begin at 11 a.m.

Life lasted more than a year longer than its chief competitor, Look, which ceased publication on Oct. 19, 1971.

Dem showdown near

WASHINGTON (AP) — Effective compromise appeared out of reach today as the Democratic National Committee prepared for a post-election showdown over future control of the party organization.

Chairman Jean Westwood, who has become the symbolic champion of the McGovern reform wing, reaffirmed Thursday night she won't step down unless a compromise can be found. And Texas Robert Strauss, who has the backing of a conservative-moderate coalition, said he has the votes to topple Mrs. Westwood and is in the fight to stay.

The decision on the party chairmanship comes Saturday when the full national committee holds its first meeting since Sen. George McGovern's landslide loss in the Nov. 7 presidential election.

Waiting in the wings should a compromise candidate be sought are Lawrence F. O'Brien, who has held the chairmanship on two previous occasions, California state party

The spacecraft's gradually declining speed was 3,083 miles an hour.

Apollo 17's command ship, America, and lunar module, Challenger, still linked nose-to-nose, were streaking on a collision course with the moon.

But ground controllers said a small rocket thrust of about one second would change the flight path enough to bring the spacecraft into the proper position on Sunday to settle it into lunar orbit.

Mission Control said the off course flight path was caused by an excess of rocket thrust Thursday morning when Apollo 17 was fired out of earth orbit and started its 86-hour coast to the moon.

The astronauts spent a quiet day in space Thursday and Schmitt reported that all three took sleeping pills before retiring in hopes of getting a solid eight hours of sleep.

Schmitt, who said he's "strictly a novice" at meteorology, spent much of his first day in space describing the changing weather patterns over the continents and oceans of earth, which he called "a little bit of blue in space."

Looking at Houston, Schmitt accurately described the cold, rainy day experienced by the city.

"I don't know what your weather is like down there, but from here it looks like you might be overcast," he said. "Might even have a good storm going."

"Right," said a ground controller. "You're a regular weather satellite."

Schmitt did most of the talking from space Thursday giving volumes of description of the things he was seeing. But Cernan, the silver-haired Apollo 17 commander and two-time space veteran, added a little music.

"Dum-de-dum, dum, doo, de, dum," Cernan sang softly at one point.

Mission Control officials said they were delighted with how well America and Challenger, spacecraft which Cernan called "superbirds," were operating.

"The spacecraft is performing in a super fashion," said flight controller Jerry Griffin at a news conference. "I think we're in good shape."

He said an earlier problem with a warning system which was putting out false alarms seemed to have solved

Chairman Charles Manatt and Maine Democratic Committeeman George Mitchell.

The executive committee today was scheduled to complete a list of 25 nominees for new at-large seats on the national committee. Credentials and resolutions committees also planned preliminary meetings.

The Westwood camp wants the 25 new members named before going on to a contest over her job. Strauss wants the chairmanship out of the way first because adding new members would increase the number of votes needed for election from 105, the present majority.

The executive committee adopted an agenda Thursday night which puts the new members' election before any opportunity to challenge the chairmanship. The Strauss forces said they would challenge this from the floor when the agenda comes up for adoption. "We want a simple up-or-down vote,"

Ethiopian skyjack foiled; 7 killed by security men

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — A U.S. professor helped foil the hijacking of an airborne jetliner today, picking up and hurling a live grenade at security guards shot and killed seven air pirates, including a woman, the government news agency said.

The professor, six other passengers and two stewardesses were wounded in the exchange of fire between security guards and the hijackers that took place shortly after an Ethiopian airliner took off from Addis Ababa.

Prof. Roderick Hilsinger, 41, of Temple University, Philadelphia, picked up the grenade dropped by a panicky hijacker and hurled it toward an empty seat in front of him, an Ethiopian passenger said. He was among the wounded.

Ten hijackers were involved, the government agency said, and three were arrested.

"He saved my life and those of many others," the passenger said.

Hilsinger of Temple University, Philadelphia, was in serious condition at the American Seventh Day Adventist Hospital in Addis Ababa, hospital sources said.

Israel target of U.N. fire

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly prepared to adopt a resolution today calling on all countries "to avoid action, including aid, which could constitute recognition" of Israel's occupation of Arab territories.

The resolution was the longest and strongest ever put before the assembly on settlement of the 1967 Arab-Israeli war. Some Arab delegates predicted 82 to 86 votes would be cast in favor of the resolution and no more than half a dozen against it.

The resolution: —Invites Israel "to declare publicly its adherence to the principle of nonannexation of territories through the use of force."

—Declares null and void any Israeli changes in the occupied territories contrary to the 1949 Geneva convention on protection of civilians in wartime and calls Israel to rescind the changes.

—Reaffirms the Security Council's 1967 resolution that establishment of peace in the Middle East should include both withdrawal of Israel from territories occupied in the war and acknowledgment of the right of every Mideast state "to live in peace within secure and recognized boundaries."

Strauss said. "The American people are entitled to a simple facing of the issues. Then, we can add members and move on to other new business."

Strauss said he has from 107 to 109 votes behind his candidacy, but he conceded there is some concern over whether these can be translated into votes to fire Mrs. Westwood, who was handpicked for the chairmanship by McGovern last August.

Mrs. Westwood has offered to resign if a middle-ground compromise candidate can be agreed upon but has said she will stay in office if Strauss remains in the race. Strauss then is faced with having to ask the national committee to fire Mrs. Westwood before he can ask it to hire him. Both sides agree that would be more difficult than beating her in a headon race.

"There are a lot of people who want a change," said one anti-Strauss strategist outside the national committee, "but not enough to vote to vacate the chair."

tal sources said. He came to the Ethiopian capital to help arrange student exchanges.

Ninety-four persons were reported aboard the plane.

The identity of the hijackers was not immediately learned. But it was thought they might have been members of the separatist guerrilla movement in Eritrea, a province in northern Ethiopia. The plane had been scheduled to stop in the Eritrean capital, Asmara.

The explosion knocked out one engine and the rudder control, the government

Truman condition remains critical

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The doctor attending former President Harry S. Truman expressed concern today about the heart of his patient, who is on the critical list at Research Hospital and Medical Center.

"His heart condition is not as good this morning as we had hoped it would be," Dr. Wallace Graham said in a statement released by the hospital at 10 a.m. EST.

"His heart is showing signs of considerable irritability and stress...President Truman has improved in some areas but shown no improvement in others," Graham said.

The 88-year-old Truman was taken to the hospital Tuesday evening from his nearby Independence, Mo., home suffering from lung congestion and a weakened heart. He was first placed on the critical list Wednesday night.

John Dreves, hospital public relations director, said neither Truman's wife nor daughter was at the hospital this morning.

A 7 a.m. EST briefing had listed Truman's temperature at 100.2 degrees

CCI walkout called off

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The threat of a strike by guards at the Chillicothe Correctional Institute this weekend has ended with the scheduling of a formal ceremony today to sign a contract negotiated three weeks ago.

The American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees had threatened a walkout over the state Correction Division's failure to sign the agreement.

But Herschel Sigall, executive director of AFSCME Council 21, said state officials agreed at a meeting Thursday to sign the pact.

He said arrangements were made to hold the signing ceremony at 1:30 p.m. today in the State Personnel Department offices here with union officials from penal institutions around the state attending.

Union spokesmen said no changes have been made in the contract hammered out during three months of negotiations that ended with agreement in November.

Sigall blamed the delay in signing to a "communications problem."

Vendor finds self jailed

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Riley Gordon, 72, a newspaper vendor at the Hamilton County Courthouse found himself handcuffed and arrested Thursday after he told a Cincinnati policeman to stop sitting on his merchandise.

Gordon was charged with being drunk and disorderly by Patrolman Nicholas Misch and Edward Hale.

news agency said, but the aircraft made a safe landing at Addis Ababa.

A woman appeared to be the leader of the hijackers, other passengers said.

Richard Wylie, an American who was with Hilsinger, said the woman stood up shortly after the plane was airborne and, in Ethiopian, instructed the other hijackers to take positions.

Someone shouted "Hijack!" and the security guards opened fire, another passenger continued. It was at this point that one of the hijackers dropped the grenade, and Hilsinger grabbed it, the passenger said.

and said it continued to fluctuate. That statement also said Truman's "pulse and blood pressure remained stable."

The former president's temperature was not reported at 10 a.m.

Thursday, after a visit with her father, Margaret Truman Daniel described the difference between her father on Wednesday and on Thursday as "the difference between night and day."

However, doctors continue to list Truman's condition as critical and declined to speculate if, or when, he might be taken off the critical list.

The former president's longtime personal physician, Dr. Wallace Graham, said Truman was "extraordinarily weak," and was being fed intravenously. He continued to receive oxygen.

A spokesman explained that Graham's phrase "extraordinarily weak" should not be construed as an indication of a turn for the worse. He said it was Graham's way of describing Truman's overall condition.

Mrs. Daniel and Truman's wife, Bess, visited the former president nearly five hours Thursday.

"He's getting kind of contrary ... a very good indication," Mrs. Daniel said. She and her mother did not return to the hospital Thursday night.

Mrs. Daniel said the Trumans had taken a call from Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., who is in London, but otherwise were not accepting telephone calls or wires.

Unemployment drops sharply in November

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate dropped sharply in November from 5.5 to 5.2 per cent of the work force, the Labor Department said today.

The November level was the lowest in 27 months, the report said.

The total number of unemployed dropped more than 200,000 to 4.2 million, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported. It was the lowest level since September of 1970. At the same time, the total number of Americans with jobs remained virtually unchanged at 82.7 million, the bureau said.

The report also said that average earnings of some 50 million rank-and-file workers remained unchanged at $3.73 per hour, but weekly earnings dropped $1.12 to $138.01 because of a decline in the average number of hours worked.

Average weekly earnings were still up $8.88 or 6.9 per cent from a year ago, more than double the 3.4 per cent rise in living costs for the same period.

The unemployment rate for men declined from 3.9 to 3.6 per cent with a total of 1,573,000 out of work. The jobless rate for women declined from 5.5 to 5.0 per cent with a total of 1,463,000. The rate for teenagers edged

Ice snarls traffic in local area

A blanket of ice greeted Fayette County residents Friday morning as rain began to freeze at about 12:46 a.m. as the temperature plunged to below the freezing mark. State Highway crews were called out to salt major arteries and the freeway, but secondary highways remained slick early Friday.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported that streets and highways began to freeze at about 12:46 a.m. as the temperature plunged to below the freezing mark. State Highway crews were called out to salt major arteries and the freeway, but secondary highways remained slick early Friday.

Fayette County School Superintendent Guy M. Foster, who was out checking roads at 5:30 a.m., at first delayed the opening of schools by an hour, but later called off classes in view of the condition of roads. He said although the roads were expected to thaw before noon, the early morning conditions were too dangerous for bus travel.

ALL CITY school buses operated on time and all classes were in session in the city, the Washington C. H. school superintendent's office reported.

Coyt A. Stookey, local weather observer, recorded a minimum during the night of 23 degrees and .46-inch of precipitation by 7 a.m. by 9 a.m. the temperature had risen to 32 degrees but it was still raining.

During that time period, from just after midnight to 9 a.m., the Fayette County Sheriff's Department investigated a total of seven accidents with only one injury involved. In the city, police investigated only one accident during that period in which a motorist lost control of her car and struck two trees.

As subzero temperatures abated early today, snow, freezing rain and sleet moved across most of the northern half of the nation from the mountains of the northwest to the Ohio Valley.

Some remnants of the cold wave of the past few days continued, however, with 20 degree temperatures in Montana, Wyoming and North Dakota.

Colder weather spread over New England and along the Pacific coast where a hard freeze was expected as far south as the valleys of northern California.

Travelers advisories for locally heavy snow and blowing snow were in effect for the California mountains to the central and southern Rockies. Advisories were posted for freezing rain and sleet conditions from Kansas and Arkansas to Wisconsin and Indiana.

Fog along the western Gulf coast made driving conditions hazardous.

Escape from the generally dismal weather was found in fair skies in the Pacific northwest and along the Atlantic coast from Virginia to New England and the Florida peninsula.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 32 at Havre, Mont., to 79 at West Palm Beach, Fla.

NATO meet

BRUSSELS (AP) — Leaders of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization were preparing today for a peaceful struggle with the Soviet Union for the kind of security, disarmament and cooperation the Western allies would like to see in Europe.

The NATO nations' foreign and defense ministers and their aides drafted a final statement summing up the alliance's semiannual four-day meeting.

Kissinger, Pompidou meet; linked to Vietnam talks

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho met today for the fifth time this week in their secret negotiations on a Vietnam peace settlement.

President Nixon's security adviser was the host at the meeting in a white two-story villa belonging to a Paris-based American jeweler.

Earlier Kissinger had a halfhour meeting with President Georges Pompidou, presumably to fill him on details of the negotiations.

Kissinger last met with Pompidou Sept. 15, during a previous round of secret Vietnam peace talks. There was no prior announcement of today's meeting.

French government sources said Pompidou is playing an important backstage role in the continuing search for peace, acting as an informal intermediary between the two sides.

Kissinger and Tho scheduled the fifth meeting of their current round of secret peace talks this afternoon in a suburban villa.

Nixon charts peace course, ponders more appointments

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — President Nixon is firing off instructions to peace negotiator Henry Kissinger while charting the series of moves which would follow a Vietnam ceasefire.

As he continues his stay at this Maryland mountaintop retreat, the chief executive is combining his Vietnam activities with development of his second-term government-reorganization plan and with preparations for the budget he will send to the next Congress.

Nixon virtually completed his new cabinet Thursday when he announced he will nominate California oil company executive Claude S. Brinegar to succeed Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe, who, as expected, was named ambassador to Italy.

The Transportation Department shift left only one Cabinet nomination—attorney general—yet to be disclosed. Officials said Nixon will announce that Richard G. Kleindienst will remain in that slot.

Aides also said Nixon is moving toward a series of sub-Cabinet appointments. One such major appointment reportedly will be a new director for the Central Intelligence Agency.

itself and that in any case it was only an annoyance.

Schmitt reported that all three astronauts went through minor pangs of adjustment to the space environment.

He said no one felt much like eating during their 10-hour work day Thursday.

Schmitt earlier took two aspirin, but by bedtime reported he was feeling well and said the food was tasting better.

"The only thing I've felt," he said, "is a slight headache. It could be from looking at the earth too much. . . . But I really feel good now."

The astronaut later added, in bedtime comments, that "none of us felt like eating (during the day), but everybody's eating better now."

Then a short while after taking the sleeping pills, Mission Control reported the crew was asleep.

Late today Cernan and Schmitt were to open a hatch and visit Challenger for the first time in space.

The astronauts will power up the lunar lander partially to check its systems. They'll also transfer from the command ship into Challenger equipment needed on the moon's surface.

Cernan and Schmitt are to guide Challenger to a crater-pocked target in a lunar box canyon among ancient and rugged mountains on Monday. The landing is scheduled for 2:54 p.m. EST.

Evans will remain aboard the command ship in lunar orbit.

The two moon landers will spend 75 hours on the lunar surface. They will make three excursions in an electric car, motoring more than 20 miles.

Thursday, but both sides maintained their agreed news blackout on the negotiations.

The U.S. delegation declined comment on rumors that Kissinger was planning to return to Washington this weekend.

There were conflicting reports on the progress of the negotiations.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told newsmen in Washington on Thursday that the current session has continued longer than had been expected. The two top negotiators have met almost daily since Nov. 20, except for a nine-day recess when Kissinger flew home to consult with Nixon.

Kissinger lunched Thursday with French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann. French government sources said later the talks had entered their "final phase" and were concerned with technical details rather than matters of principle.

But Communist officials described the talks as plunged into a new "deadlock" by American-backed South Vietnamese intransigence.

be replaced, officials said, but there are few solid indications on who might succeed him.

Nixon, who arrived at Camp David Monday, scheduled a mid-morning meeting with a quartet of economic advisers—Treasury Secretary George Shultz; Chairman Arthur Burns of the Federal Reserve Board; Chairman Herbert Stein of the President's Council of Economic Advisers and Director Caspar Weinberger of the Office of Management and Budget.

In addition to his second-term personnel planning and economic consultations, Nixon also conferred Thursday with a half-dozen of his top budget advisers, then spent two hours meeting with Adm. Thomas Moore, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Deputy Defense Secretary Kenneth Rush to discuss the Vietnam situation.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The National Weather Service has issued a travelers advisory throughout Ohio, effective throughout Friday morning as freezing rain hampered early work-bound traffic.

Rising temperatures during the morning are expected to alleviate the icy conditions.

The service said warm moist air flowing northward from the Gulf of Mexico has produced a wide band of precipitation from the lower and middle Mississippi Valley through the Ohio Valley and into the Lower Great Lakes.

In Ohio, this precipitation took the form of freezing rain and sleet through central and southern portions of the state and snow through the northern portion. The freezing rain or sleet will be changing to rain throughout the state by late in the morning.

Surface temperatures at sunrise ranged from within a degree or two of the freezing point along the Ohio River to the middle 20s along the shore of Lake Erie. Warmer air aloft has allowed the precipitation in central and southern Ohio to fall as rain which then either freezes into sleet before reaching the ground or freezes upon contact with the cold ground. Surface temperatures are expected to warm gradually and by noon the shallow layer of cold surface air should be above the freezing point of 32 degrees.

Temperatures will remain cold in Ohio Sunday, Monday and Tuesday with a chance of snow north late Sunday and over the state Monday. Highs will be in the 25 to 30 range north and 30 to 35 south. Lows Sunday morning of 10 to 15 will improve to the upper teens and low 20s by Tuesday morning.

Stock list levels off

NEW YORK (AP) — After advancing for two days, prices leveled off in the stock market today in moderate trading.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up .45 to 1,033.71. On the New York Stock Exchange, declining issues had a very slight edge over gaining stocks.

"We've been having periods of one-day corrections now and then," said Larry Wachtel, vice president for research at Bache & Co.

On the Big Board, Winnebago was active and up 1¼ to 29½ after two brokerage houses recommended the issue.

The volume leader, Holiday Inns, was unchanged at 44½, the price at which a block of 132,100 shares was sold.

Institutional investors were not very active, as block trades were infrequent.

Top federal health officer resigns position at HEW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government's top medical and health officer, Dr. Merlin K. DuVal, is leaving his job to return to the University of Arizona, say sources in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

DuVal's resignation, transmitted to President Nixon in a letter, again leaves vacant the sometimes controversial position as HEW assistant secretary for health and scientific affairs.

DuVal, 50, told Nixon he plans to accept a post as vice president of health affairs at the Tucson school

Bricks in toilet tanks save on water

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP) — Six months ago, Tilly Spetgong, a serious gal with a goofy idea, walked into City Council carrying a brick. Councilman Steve Morgan ducked under his desk. "He must have thought I was going to throw it," she said, "but all I wanted was to put one into every toilet tank in town."

The unusual proposal to save water stunned Council, but it was approved. And it so convulsed this residential community of 65,000 across the Delaware River from Philadelphia that it swiftly accepted the scheme — to become probably the first in America with a brick in nearly every toilet.

The idea is that the brick will take up space in the toilet tank, displacing a small amount of water that is not necessarily needed for flushing.

"It was a wacky idea that got people laughing, and also made them aware that people pollute and people can conserve," said Mrs. Spetgong, a 44-year-old mother of two who used to raise chickens and now, admittedly, "raises the dickens" as a member of the Conservation Advisory Board.

Council anted up $2,000 to buy 34,000 extra-hard beige bricks, the kind that won't break up in any kind of water and enough for every toilet in the town's 17,000 homes.

Last weekend, about 175 persons — mostly teen-agers — distributed 27,000 bricks, two to a house. They will finish this Saturday.

Of her idea, Mrs. Spetgong said: "It's off-beat enough to get people talking and, hopefully, make them aware of how involved all of us are in this pollution crisis."

"If the average family of four flushes a total of 20 times a day we would save 34 million gallons of water every year in Cherry Hill."

where he once was a dean of the medical school, the sources said.

Nixon's transfer of Elliot L. Richardson from HEW secretary to defense secretary reportedly had nothing to do with DuVal's decision.

In a related matter, Richardson told newsmen Thursday "I don't anticipate any reductions in force," at HEW, a department of 110,000 employees.

However, Richardson said, he supports "squeezing the water and cutting the fat" out of the agency looked on by the White House as "too fat, too bloated."

The President's choice to replace Richardson at HEW is Caspar Weinberger, the present director of the Office of Management and Budget. It has been rumored Weinberger wants to trim the department payroll by at least 10,000 persons.

The HEW sources who told of DuVal's resignation did not mention possible successors.

As assistant secretary DuVal controlled the Food and Drug Administration, the National Institutes of Health and the Health Services and Mental Health Administration.

Ohio given grant share

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The National Conference of State Legislative Leaders announced Thursday seven states, including Ohio, will share a $1 million Ford Foundation grant to help modernize legislatures.

The money is to go for increased professional staff for key committees, lengthened sessions, better organization, "realistic salaries and expenses" for lawmakers, "greater openness" of proceedings, improved facilities, stricter controls over conflicts of interest and effective regulation of lobbyists.

Also participating in the three-year program which begins in 1973 will be Arizona, Colorado, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Minnesota and New Hampshire.

It will be implemented by the State Legislative Leaders Foundation, a branch of the Citizens Conference on State Legislatures.

The Ohio program will be overseen by Ralph Craft, a 30-year-old Grinnell College graduate. Craft recently coordinated a study of the Arkansas legislature for the Eagleton Institute of Politics at Rutgers University.

The flying wedge was outlawed in football when President Theodore Roosevelt threatened to ban the game by executive edict unless players quit being so rough.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State officials say family planning and birth control services probably will be provided in the 14 Ohio counties still without them under an expanded program being prepared by the Welfare Department.

Monoxide fells 4 persons

Four members of a Washington C.H. family were treated at Memorial Hospital Thursday for carbon monoxide poisoning.

Firemen said Russell Justice, 705 Eastern Ave., and his three children were taken to the emergency room after they became ill at their home.

Dayton Power and Light Co. officials checked the house in the morning for the deadly gas after the family became ill. The test proved positive. Firemen reported that the gas floor furnace in the home was suspect.

They said the house has no chimney, and the furnace was being vented through a pipe under the floor.

Lt. William Smith, who inspected the premises, said the matter was later turned over to the Health and Welfare Department due to the condition of the home.

Firemen were also called to a minor truck fire and flushed gasoline from a restaurant parking lot Thursday.

A short in the wiring was blamed for a minor blaze in a Court Cable TV truck parked behind the City Building at 7:45 a.m. Thursday. Firemen doused the blaze with an extinguisher. Damage to the truck was minor.

At 5:50 p.m. firemen were called to the J & J Restaurant, 827 E. Market St., to flush gasoline from the lot. Firemen said the gas tank on a parked car owned by Leonard Watts, Rt. 2, Leesburg, apparently had sprung a leak, causing a pool of gasoline to form.

Sailor given 5-year term for sabotage

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Seaman Appren. Jeffrey Allison has been sentenced to five years at hard labor for igniting a $7.5 million fire that crippled the aircraft carrier Forrestal.

The 19-year-old Oakland, Calif., sailor did not change expression Thursday as military judge Capt. William E. Neely found him guilty of arson, sabotage, destruction of government property and hazarding a vessel. He also was convicted of five charges of possession and distribution of the drugs LSD and mescaline.

The verdict is subject to automatic military appeal.

Neely's verdict in the case made the Forrestal fire the most costly single act of sabotage in Navy history, according to Navy sources.

Testimony during the eight-day court-martial indicated that Allison had a drug problem and could have suffered from a drug "flashback" the night of July 10 when the carrier was hit by fire in the Navy shipyard here.

Prosecutor Lt. Kenneth M. Greene, in seeking a sentence "in the neighborhood of 20 years," said the Forrestal fire and the trial of Allison had dramatized "the worst fears of the Navy of mixing drugs with shipboard life."

Allison's father Dustin — a burly, sandy-haired California highway patrolman — stared out a window, and his mother wept behind dark glasses as Greene asked Neely to make the young sailor an example to others.

Yule tree purchase tips given

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Some advice for the buying and care of Christmas trees has been offered Ohio shoppers by Natural Resources Director William Nye.

Nye suggested buying Ohio grown trees because they usually are fresher than those transported from Michigan, Canada, Wisconsin or the southern states.

A good test of the freshness of a tree, he said, is to bend its needles. "If they snap back, it's fresh," he said.

For a pleasing fragrance, he advised balsam fir and white pine.

If purchased several weeks before Christmas, a live tree should be placed in a bucket of water and stored outside in a cool place out of the wind, he said.

"From an environmental standpoint, it would be best for Ohioans to buy live balled and burlapped trees," Nye said. About 75 per cent of such trees, he said, live after being replanted.

Pruning improves the appearance and strength of tree branches, and Nye said tree bases should be trimmed one inch to increase water absorption.

A solution of boric acid, borax and water should be kept in a bucket near the tree as a safety measure, he added.

WEST MILFORD, N.J. (AP) — Television personality Jack Paar is nursing a sore wrist after an unexpected encounter with a young tiger while filming a TV sequence at a drive-through zoo.

The 6-month-old tiger bit Paar on the wrist during the filming session at Jungle Habitat on Wednesday.

Seafood inspection needed

The federal government has been inspecting meat for wholesomeness ever since the early years of this century following Upton Sinclair's expose of the packing industry in his novel, "The Jungle." Someone ought to write a novel about conditions in the fish packing and processing industry.

Though Americans consume around two billion pounds of fish annually, plants that prepare fresh, canned or frozen fish for market are subject to only spot checks. There is nothing comparable to the sustained inspection system applied to meat. The consequences of this are about what one might expect, as witness this assessment of the average fish plant by Dr. Charles C. Edwards, head of the Food and Drug Administration: "We find grossly inadequate processing conditions, improper equipment and a general lack of quality control."

That is a generalization that only hints at the disgusting and health-threatening conditions found in some plants. Congress has heard much about these conditions through hearings over the past few years. Congress has not taken remedial action.

A difficult economic problem is involved. The seafood industry is not as healthy as it might be, and expensive plant improvements would hurt. Replacing the present spot-check system with more or less continuous inspection also would be costly for the government. Such obstacles have to be taken seriously, but they do not justify inaction. Congress, having flubbed a chance to do something about fish inspection this year, should redeem itself at the coming session. The wholesomeness of seafood is just as important as that of meat, and the inspection systems should be comparable.

Putting the genie back in the bottle

The problem of the Democratic Party is simply stated: it is to find a way of putting the genie back in the bottle.

The genie is ethnicity, if that is a usable word. A number of Democratic commentators, dismayed at the mishaps that have befallen the old Roosevelt coalition, speak of new combinations: the young, the black, the poor, etc.

But it is wrong to try to reduce political organizational problems to possible statistical components. Coalitions are not born of simple addition; they are born of natural rallying behind a unifying idea.

To come back on a national scale, the Democrats must find a universal solvent. They can't find it by going the "McGovern rule" route of quota representation for the simple reason that this emphasizes divisiveness, not unity.

FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT, who used to like to say "we are all immigrants," stormed the White House as the symbol of melting pot America. His coalition — the South, the academicians, the Democratic city machines of the North, the farmers, the labor bosses — rallied behind the single unifying idea of economic betterment.

The South got its TVA, with a whole cluster of new industries. The city politicians and the labor bosses got WPA and the right to organize for an upturn that took people off WPA. The farmers got higher prices.

The academicians were satisfied when their economic theories were accepted. And the economic unifying theme could be protected because in the Thirties and on through the Forties we could stand for the inflation that absorbed all the expenses.

The day when an economic solvent could unify special interest groups is now gone with the wind. The Roman Catholic Irish, Poles and Italians now have suburban interests to protect. The blacks do not.

The farm workers — the Chicanos who follow Cesar Chavez — have organizing interests to pursue; the wheat, corn, hog, and cotton agriculturists, using expensive machinery as substitutes for field hands for harvest purposes, couldn't care less about Chavez's program.

There are no more big unexploited dam sites left to provide a power theme capable of unifying the Northwest, the mountain South, and the Missouri Valley. As for the young, they grow old in four-year cycles and move inexorably on into groups that have little to do with age.

Every piece of post-election analysis emphasizes the lack of a national Democratic unifying theme. George McGovern is worried about the "immorality" of the Vietnamese War, but that war has already come to an end for more than 90 per cent of the American people. The senatorial Democrats couldn't care less about the problems of the Democratic National Committee; they won while Party Chairman — or Chairperson — Jean Westwood was losing. George Wallace says the party will have to go his way in 1976 or he will cease to be a "national" Democrat and turn Republican.

BUT HOW is Wallace going to have his way totally now that Stokely Carmichael, the "black power" advocate, has come home from Africa with the idea of bringing the Rev. Jesse Jackson and other Negro leaders into a united all-black political grouping?

Stokely Carmichael won't succeed in creating a black united front, for he has his own penchant for divisiveness. But if Wallace polarizes in one direction, Carmichael polarizes in another.

Willy Brandt: Perils of success

The West German election was billed as a great triumph for Social Democratic Chancellor Willy Brandt and his policy of "Ostpolitik," of detente with his Communist neighbors. However, when you take a close look at the actual vote, you get the distinct impression that the victory communicates were overstated.

Tue, Brandt's party, the SPD, did for the first time since parliamentary democracy was reintroduced into Germany outpoll the Christian Democrats (CDU). But in net terms the movement was trivial: the SPD gained 3.2 per cent, while the CDU fell off by 1.3 per cent. Their ratio is now 46 to 45 nationally, hardly an overpowering difference.

On the other hand, the Brandt Coalition did win big, at least by West German standards. The SPD and its allies, the Free Democrats (FDP), now have a 48-member majority over the CDU in the Bundestag, the German equivalent of the House of Commons. This success was largely due to the revitalization of the Free Democrats, who under the dynamic leadership of Foreign Minister (and Vice Chancellor) Walter Scheel raised their percentage of the vote from 5.6 to 8.4 and won 42 seats. The FDP thus holds the balance of power.

WHAT MAKES this interesting is that the FDP, which has supported Brandt strongly in the area of foreign affairs, is on domestic matters probably more traditional and conservative than the Christian Democrats. Its ideological origins can be found in European liberalism which (unlike its American namesake) was and is deeply committed to laissez faire and the free market. Thus the coalition can sail along smoothly enough as long as Foreign Minister Scheel is busy negotiating with the East Germans or the Soviets, but when the government focuses on domestic affairs the SPD-FDP alliance tends to come unzipped.

At the moment Brandt is faced with a number of crucial domestic problems and with a left-wing faction in his party that is demanding "instant socialism," a reversion to the Victorian dogmas of Karl Marx (notably a blind and witless faith in state ownership of the commanding heights of the economy).

Brandt and his colleagues turned the SPD into West Germany's leading vote-getter by abandoning these antique Marxist slogans, but a new generation has arisen in the party. Like the McGovernites here, and British Labor's left wing, these enthusiasts cannot themselves win elections, but they can make it impossible for their party to win.

PREDICTABLY, now that Brandt has a massive "Mandate," these leftists are going to descend on Bonn with their "radical" program and insist on action. Equally predictable is the Free Democratic response to their incantations: "Not with us!"

So Brandt will be caught in a nasty enfilade, accused of "selling out" on

Letters To Editor

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

Recently I had occasion to spend two weeks in Washington C. H. This letter is intended as a short of "thank you" to the city for what I consider to be one of its outstanding assets — the Carnegie Public Library. I spent many leisure hours in its quiet, comfortable, pleasant atmosphere.

Most especially do I commend the reference collection. I feel it is exceptionally fine in both scope and depth, its coverage far greater than one would expect in a city of your size. In short order I was able to resolve several items of research on my personal agenda — items I had failed to find in our local Bethesda library.

It is understandable, of course, that no single library in a big county system could encompass the broad scope of the reference volumes in your library. As for the Library of Congress in the nation's capital, its collection is magnificent indeed — unique in the world — but woe to him who wishes to find something in a hurry! The most simple task assumes major proportions in the face of an announced waiting period of at least 45 minutes before a book can be obtained from the closed shelves. On a recent visit the elapsed time was exactly 90 minutes.

In closing this paean to your library, I wish above all to commend the librarian and the entire staff. They were unfailingly well informed, helpful and resourceful. The residents of Washington C. H. have every reason to be proud of their library.

Agrico expands

Construction is under way on an expanded office facility for the Agrico Regional Sales office, Robinson Rd., Paul Breitigan, office manager, announced today.

The 72-foot by 30-foot concrete block building is expected to be completed by Feb. 1, weather permitting.

The regional office has been operating from a small building and several portable offices. Breitigan said the office expansion will be in addition to the portable units, and no expansion of services are planned.

Reverse cocktail

A biochemist at the Veterans Administration hospital in Tucson seems to have devised a "cocktail" which turns off the effects of genuine cocktails and such. It works pretty well on rats. Soon it will be tried on people. If it works as well on them, says Dr. Cleamond D. Eskelson of his concoction, "we will have a very effective sobering-up agent."

This sounds wonderful, but there are potential drawbacks. One may ask whether heavy drinkers, knowing they can sober up with an Eskelson chaser, may not feel less inhibition than before about downing the stuff. That's something to keep in mind. On balance, though, a dependable means of sobering up in a hurry strikes us as something much worthwhile.

Clipped comment

American workmen will build the U.S. embassy in Moscow. This will be done to get the bugs out of the project.

McNair Presbyterian Church stressing youth involvement

The McNair Memorial Presbyterian Church, 503 Lewis St., has embarked on a program of greater involvement of the young people, under the direction of the new pastor, the Rev. Wilbur Bullock and church committees.

Youth, represented by Andy and Marilee Garner, took an active part in the worship service last Sunday, the first Sunday on Advent.

Hereafter, the young people will participate in the services the first Sunday of each month, the Rev. Mr. Bullock said.

Laymen will participate in the services the last Sunday of each month, starting Dec. 31.

The sermon topic for the worship service the second Sunday of Advent will be "Christ, the Name of Him Who Came."

The church also will observe the "Key 73" program of evangelism next year. The primary objective of the program, the Rev. Mr. Bullock explained, is "to take Christ into every home." The observance will begin with individual praying in the church from noon to 1 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 11 to Epiphany, Jan. 6.

In India, even men from neighboring villages may not understand one another. Indians speak more than 800 languages and dialects.

Your horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

SATURDAY, DEC. 9

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

A splendid day for improving methods and for experimenting generally. With your innate enthusiasm, you can give a lift to practically any project.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

What you do well now will register for quite a while, but DO avoid procrastination and duplication of effort or you could delay future gains.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Fine planetary influences indicate golden opportunities to get ahead. Here's a chance to exercise your talent for good management, your spirit of enterprise.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Be alert now. A thoughtless move could have more repercussions than you could possibly imagine. Emphasize your steadfastness, practicality.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Don't block opposition that could eventually be converted into support. Work diplomatically to bring it around. Some barriers aren't as impregnable as they seem.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Shun controversies which merely take up time and dissipate energies. Switch your mode of approach if the occasion demands.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Set sights calculatingly on your target — and aim straight! The time is ripe for getting the things you want.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Do not hesitate to advance an unusual idea IF you have given it proper thought. But do take into consideration the previous plans of associates — and possible opposition.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Don't be distracted from obligations by the frivolous suggestions of others. Take time to relax only when you have earned it.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

It will take a real down-to-earth attitude to handle some situations this weekend but, by stressing your innate good judgment, you can master them handsily.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

A slow start may be the RIGHT one now since preparations for all undertakings must be thorough. Once sure that you're on the right track, however, get going — and keep going! You can accomplish a great deal.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Even if you have planned ably, it may be a matter of nip and tuck all day. But you won't run into TOO much difficulty, and you should enjoy the challenge of unexpected situations.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a keenly analytical mind; are never swayed against reason or logic. Strictly objective in your thinking and always impartial in your judgments, you would make an excellent arbitrator or business adviser. You could also excel as a jurist or diplomat. If you should choose the creative field as a career, you would be best as a writer, architect or musician. Any work connected with travel, such as selling or transportation, is also a fine outlet for your talents.

Bernardin to retain

2 national posts

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Bishop Joseph L. Bernardin will retain two national posts when he is installed Dec. 19 as Archbishop of the 550,000-member, 19-county Archdiocese of Cincinnati.

The Roman Catholic Church will remain secretary of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops (NCCB) and of the U.S. Catholic Conference, action arm of the approximately 300 bishops in the NCCB.

Nine thousand non-Europeans have settled in Australia in each of the last three years.

Don't let years suffocate you

NEW YORK (AP) — Everything on earth matures and grows older — from microbes to oak trees.

But some things grow older sooner than they have to. People in particular do. Some people.

They let the years suffocate them early. They give up on life and become tiresome victims of their own ennui. They deliberately seek the safety and anonymity of the rut. How can one tell if he is unconsciously letting himself act and feel older than he really needs to be? Well, if the person is you, you should give yourself a shaking up if these things are true of you:

You wait until a new film is on television before you see it. Why go to the bother of going out to a movie and paying money now when you can see it for nothing in a year or two or three?

You never have to look around the house to find anything, because you know where everything is — it's just where it belongs.

It has been three months since you read a new book, and it'll probably be another three months before you get around to reading one.

In the last five years you haven't made two new friends, or even found one that you're really struck by. And you'd rather talk to your old friends over the telephone than go places with them.

Reading the obituary page of your newspaper gives you more pleasure than reading the sports pages. On the other hand, there are a lot of days when nobody interesting seems to die, aren't there?

When you go for a walk, four out of five times you follow the same route. Your Sunday drives have gotten pretty patterned too.

You think that anyone over 30 who goes skiing is crazy and anyone over 50 who plays tennis is either showing off or deliberately inviting the undertaker.

Every morning you wake up feeling tired — day after day after day. Everyone seems to have more fun than you do.

It has been years since anything hurt you enough to make you cry, but you whine about small vexations many times a day. You'd rather complain than praise. The whole world, of course, isn't engaged in a gigantic conspiracy against you — good heavens, after all you're not paranoid — but most of the people you meet seem to be.

You eat lunch at the same place every day, and it upsets you if you have to go a different one.

Your conversation with your wife is usually monosyllabic, and often consists largely of a series of sporadic grunts.

Man, you aren't just growing old. You are prematurely manufacturing yourself into an antique.

Ben Franklin, pioneer American printer and journalist, not only had a nose for news, but also a musical ear for news. As a boy he pelted on the street printed copies of a ballad he wrote chronicling America's earliest lighthouse tragedy, the drowning of the keeper of the Boston light and five companions in 1718.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Planning and the pill

DEAR ABBY: You recently published a letter from a woman who was concerned about a 14-year-old girl who wanted the Pill.

I agree with your advice that the girl obviously needed some counseling. However, I can't believe that you have not been informed about Family Planning Clinics or Planned Parenthood, who offer help to any person of child-bearing age without requiring legal residence or discriminating as to race, religion, national origin, maturity, or marital status. Services are given free to those who cannot pay.

In the future, please urge your readers with questions about the Pill or other contraceptives to contact their local Family Planning clinic for the professional help they need, whether it be counseling or supplies.

If more persons would use these facilities available to them, there would be more planned babies with a welcome place in this world and less unwanted babies with small chances for a happy future.

STEADY READER: SEATTLE

DEAR READER: And I can't believe that a "steady reader" has not noticed my frequent references to Planned Parenthood and Family Planning clinics. I mention them so often, I've been accused of being on their payroll!

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I had a strange experience the other evening.

We went back to the little town where we used to live because some old friends had invited us to spend Friday and Saturday with them there. On the way to these friends (we were a little early), we made a stop at the home of another couple we had known. They seemed glad to see us and asked us to stop for Sunday supper and spend the evening with them.

We stopped back and when we went to their house, both their cars were in the garage and lights were on in the house, but the shades were drawn. We rang and bell and knocked on the front door, but we couldn't raise anybody. When we went around to the back door, there was a big SUCKER sticking in the latch!

We left without delay. Now what do you think of that?

STUNNED

DEAR STUNNED: Unbelievable!

DEAR ABBY: Don't let anyone tell you it's not against the law to open another person's mail:

UNITED STATES CODE

FEDERAL CRIMINAL CODE

TITLE 18, UNITED STATES CODE

SECTION 1702. OBSTRUCTION OF

CORRESPONDENCE. Whoever takes

I read a letter recently in your column where the writer stated that if a person received mail at their place of employment it was not illegal for the "boss" to read the mail since it had been sent to his address. You thanked the writer for writing and said, "We learn something new every day."

However, before your readers go out and practice what they have just "learned" I suggest they first stop at their nearest library and read the excerpt quoted above from the United

L. C.

DEAR L. C.: I appreciate your writing. But I was right about one thing — we DO learn something new every day. And today we have learned something even "newer."

Chinese cook drug importer

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Chinese cook who picked up a kimono that also contained about $750,000 of heroin is being held here under $50,000 bond.

Federal officials charged the man, Sit Ki Kwok, 28, with importing 28 ounces of heroin. They said the package with the kimono and heroin in the lining was mailed to Kwok's restaurant.

Agents said the heroin was discovered during a routine check by U.S. custom agents in Seattle, Wash. A spokesman said Kwok entered the country illegally in 1970 as a crewman on a ship that arrived at Long Beach, Calif.

Natural gas said wasted

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Natural gas "is too valuable to waste" on such uses as steel mills and electricity generating plants, a Texas researcher says.

Ralph E. Gilchrist, exploration and production research manager for Southwest Research Institute of San Antonio, also says there is no energy shortage in the United States. It's "cheap energy" the nation is running out of.

Gilchrist, one of the last speakers addressing the International Pollution Engineering Congress which closed Wednesday more than 5,000 persons short of the 15,000 expected to attend, said coal and oil "are still very much a part of our future."

The nation has "more than 300 billion barrels of oil right under our noses, with zero finding costs," he said, reservoirs already discovered but which won't be produced "because of today's economics or technology."

Supplies of natural gas are dwindling, he said, in part because gas was burned as a waste product when the oil industry was young.

"It's good for use in the home—it's clean and inexpensive," he said, but "it's wasteful to use gas in generating plants and steel plants. Coal's just as good."

"But corporations don't want to reconvert old plants; they want to build new plants," Gilchrist said, indicating any move from gas to coal faces economic hindrances.

World production of mercury reached some 20 million pounds in 1969, and one expert counted more than 3,000 different uses for the element.

Bombers step up Viet raids

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers kept up their saturation bombing of North Vietnamese supply routes across the demilitarized zone today, dropping another 1,000 tons of bombs in 18 hours.

It was the second day of concentrated U.S. bombing in and around the DMZ. About 2,000 tons of bombs were dropped between noon Wednesday and noon Thursday within a 10-mile radius of the North Vietnamese town of Ben Quang, just above the demarcation

End phone hike hearing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Final briefs in the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio hearing on the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.'s rate increase request are to be filed by Jan. 12.

Testimony in the hearing was concluded Thursday, and the Commission ordered the company to provide more information about recent advertising which one complainant said was "blatantly prejudicial" in favor of the rate hike.

The commission asked Ohio Bell to provide information on cost of the ads, where they appeared, how the funds for them were allocated and how the Bell management participated in the decision to place them.

Dennis Kucinich of Cleveland complained the two-page ads appeared in newspapers throughout Ohio. He said Bell customers will end up paying for the advertising costs through higher phone bills.

The company reserved comment on the advertising pending its formal response to the commission order.

From noon Thursday until 6 a.m. today, the B52s blasted supply caches five miles south of Ben Quang, nearby in the DMZ and targets just south of the zone above Quang Tri City.

Two more B52 missions were flown in the southern part of North Vietnam and 10 in South Vietnam. A B52 mission usually consists of three planes carrying a total of about 90 tons of bombs.

U.S. fighter-bombers flew 40 strikes against North Vietnam and 300 against targets in the South, the U.S. Command reported.

A U.S. Army light observation helicopter was shot down 12 miles southwest of Saigon Thursday, the command said, but the crew was rescued by another helicopter. One man was wounded.

The South Vietnamese command claimed that, in ground action across country, 244 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were killed, while government losses were 16 killed and 61 wounded.

Ground fighting was reported in Quang Tri Province, where South Vietnamese marines and paratroopers are trying to retake territory captured by the North Vietnamese in their offensive last spring.

The Viet Cong in a broadcast urged its forces to "maintain, defend, consolidate and constantly expand" areas under their control. Radio Liberation said the "rapid building and development of the revolutionary armed and political forces is a great and fundamental mission."

Government sources in Saigon said President Nguyen Van Thieu tentatively is scheduled to address the National Assembly on Tuesday and probably will call for a three-month extension of the special decree powers he assumed last June.

2 men are charged with fatal robbery

WELCH, W. Va. (AP) — Two men in custody in Toledo, Ohio are charged in warrants issued from state police here with murder in connection with the death of a night watchman in McDowell County last weekend.

Sheriff set to sell books; need sorted

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Hamilton County Sheriff Paul Fricker intends to sell more than 100,000 books, films, magazines and records seized Wednesday from a book distributor, but he has to find out which ones are obscene first.

The items, taken from the Queen City News warehouse in suburban Blue Ash, Wednesday, must remain in two vans for two months, however, while litigation continues.

WSHS Band Boosters receive fund reports

Reports made at the WHS Band Booster meeting this week indicate the concession stands at the Blue Lion home football games cleared between $1,000 and $1,200. The money is used to pay for the band's out-of-town trips.

Calendars sold as another money-making project will be delivered this month, the chairman said. Proceeds from the sale will go into the fund to purchase new uniforms and mending of those being worn. There is approximately $1,000 in the uniform fund now, but it was pointed out that this will not go far since uniforms cost around $125 each.

President Paul A. Breitigan announced that the Band Booster membership campaign will get under way next week with members of the band selling the tickets at $1 each.

Children's books spice holiday gift list buys

By MILES A. SMITH
AP Book Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — In the holiday season booksellers have a selection of titles for the youngsters that stretches from here to there and back again—from perennial childhood favorites to the latest stories to enchant the young.

Here are some highlights among the fall outpouring of books:

In the usual classifications of "all ages" or "12 and up" the publishers assume that informative nonfiction can compete with story - telling, so there are such items as "Brian Wildsmith's Twelve Days of Christmas" (published by Watts), illustrated by the author; "Golden Toes: Football's Greatest Kickers" (St. Matthew's Press) by Don Kowet; "Famous American Explorers" (Rand McNally) by Bern Keating; "The Dance of Africa" (Praeger) by Lee Warren; "Ralph Nader's Crusade" (Macrae Smith) by Richard Curtis; and "Hockey's Greatest All-Star" (Hawthorn) by Howard Liss.

Other items include "Animals of the African Year" (Holt, Rinehart), with an ecological viewpoint, by Jane Burton; "Circus Heroes and Heroines" (Hammond), biographical sketches by Rhina Kirk; "American Indian Inspiration" (M. Evans), a how-to-book by Alex and Janet D'Amato; and "The Beginnings of Art" (Four Winds Press) by Philip Van Doren Stern.

THE FICTION for this group includes "North Star" (Macrae Smith) by A. E. Schraff, in which a 16-year-old girl feels the first stirrings of romantic attraction; "Only Earth and Sky Last Forever" (Harper), a tale of American Indian life by Nathaniel Benchley; "The Wanderers" (Four Winds Press) about the Irish travels of four individuals, by Elizabeth Coatsworth.

Other fiction includes "The Beethoven Medal" (Crowell) written and illustrated by K. M. Peyton, about his character Patrick Pennington — the author has won a Carnegie Medal himself; "The Fairy Tale Treasury" (Coward, McCann), 32 tales edited by Virginia Haviland and illustrated by Raymond Briggs; and "The Mac-Leod Place," (Children's Press) by the Newbery Medal winner William H. Armstrong, a story set in the Blue Ridge Mountains.

For the younger set, variously described as ages 7 to 11, 8 to 12 or 9 to 13, the nonfiction selections included "SOS — Save Our Earth" (Grosset and Dunlap) by Giancarlo Mancini, an illustrated ecological book; and "Young People's Illustrated Encyclopedia" (Children's Press) a reference tool for grades 3 to 6.

Among the fiction titles for the younger group are "The Witches of Worm" (Atheneum) by Zilpha Keatley Snyder, author of two Newbery Honor books, a story of a little girl and a cat named Worm; "The Hermit and Harry and Me" (Little, Brown), written and illustrated by Nonny Hogrogrian, a Caldecott Medal winner; and "The White Sparrow" (McGraw-Hill) by Padriac Colum, winner of a Regina Medal.

THE SMALL FRY, in the age ranges of 3 to 7, 4 to 8 and 5 to 9, are interested mostly in story telling, but there also are some nonfiction items for them, such as "Push Pull, Empty Full" (Macmillan) written and illustrated with photographs by Tana Hoban, a

Santa and the ICE KING

by Lucrece Beale

SYNOPSIS: The Eskimos of young Oonik's village are worried because for some mysterious reason the Ice King of the North has prevented the summer arriving on schedule. To placate the Ice King, the villagers plan a festival in his honor.

CHAPTER TWO THE FESTIVAL

"The Ice King of the North is very angry," said Miski, the wise man of the Eskimo village. "He sends frigid winds and storms of snow even though it is August and the ice on the sea should long since have melted."

"To placate the Ice King we must have a festival in his honor. Then he will surely put aside his anger and we will be able to do our summer hunting for reindeer and rabbits and duck."

"Hooray!" cried Oonik, the Eskimo boy. "I love festivals! Dancing! And singing! And eating! Oh, that will be good!"

But Oonik's mother said, "How can we have a festival? Hunting has been so poor there is scarcely any food left in the village. In my house we are down to our last seal flipper."

"It is the same with us," moaned the other women. "Our storerooms are nearly empty."

Oonik's father said, "Can we not have a festival without food?"

Miski shook his head. "The Ice King would be insulted if we had a festival in his honor and had no food. If we did not care to bring out our food in his honor perhaps he would not care to stop the winter winds."

Then the men said, "Very well. We will do it for the winter storms must end."

So the Eskimos returned to their igloos. The women melted snow and put their last hunks of meat in the water to stew. The men made flat drums out of wooden hoops covered with the thin inner tissues of seals.

When all was ready the villagers returned to the igloo of Miski, the wise man. They all sat on the floor of the snow house and Miski stood in the middle and sang a song to the Ice King.

"The Ice King of the North is angry," said the Wise Man.

He asked the Ice King to get over his anger and bring the Eskimos good weather so they could have good hunting again.

Then Miski sat down and the men began to beat on their drums with sticks made of ivory walrus tusks.

Boom! Boom! Boom!

Then the Eskimos sang. First they sang in a soft chant keeping time to the drum beat. Presently their voices rose and their singing became louder than the wind roaring around the igloo.

Oonik, anxious to please the Ice King, sang louder than all the rest.

The dancing started. All the men and boys stood in their places and stamped on the floor and moved their arms up and down in curious patterns meant to placate the Ice King.

After that the food was served. Oonik took half his share outside to his dog Keotuk who crouched at the door.

"Don't worry," said Oonik soothingly to his dog. "This has been a festival such as I have never seen. It is bound to have pleased the Ice King and tomorrow good weather will come and we will have good hunting again."

But, alas! On that very night came a storm worse than any that had come before. The furious wind swept sheets of ice from the north and hurled them on the tiny Eskimo village. Three igloos were smashed by the tons of ice and the poor owners had to move in with neighbors. A mountain of ice pushed out of the sea and towered over the village.

'My girl hates the tattoos'

I had tattoos made on my chest and arm when I was sent overseas.

Now I am out of the service and engaged to be married. My girl hates the tattoos. I would go to any length to get rid of them.

Is there any operation for this? I would gladly be operated on.

Mr. S. B. T., Mass.

Dear Mr. T.:

I wish your letter could be reprinted in every one of the Armed Services magazines so that thousands of young men could think twice before they impulsively submit to tattooing.

The consistency with which most adults regret their youthful impulse to be tattooed should be emphasized so that fewer young men will fall into the same trap.

Surgery, chemicals, and abrasive skin-peeling techniques have been tried in an effort to remove these telltale evidences of youthful misjudgment.

Unfortunately, the results are not consistently good. Sometimes, the scars that are left may be even more disfiguring than the tattoos themselves.

Many highly trained plastic surgeons have been reporting successful methods for disguising tattoos. An opinion from one of these in your own city might be helpful.

Do not, however, become involved with tempting, but unreliable, mail order advertisements about miracle methods of removing tattoos.

About twice a year my ears become swollen, red and itchy.

It is painful and keeps me from working. Can anything be done for this?

Mrs. B. B., Tex.

Dear Mrs. B.:

Infection and allergy are two of the most common causes for this condition.

Unfortunately, many people try to alleviate the itchy sensation with pencils, paper clips, and a wide variety of irritating "weapons."

Frequently, the thin lining of the outer ear is broken, and germs and fungus set up housekeeping.

Hair dyes, sprays, nail polish, lacquers, and eye make-up are some of the causes of eczema of the ear canal.

When the condition is present, antibiotics and cortisone ointments are remarkably effective.

It is important to try to find the offending substances responsible for these repeated episodes of outer ear infection or allergy.

Sometimes, by trial and error, the offender can be found and avoided.

POW wife now hopeful for quick return of mate

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — Vietnam peace talks drag on, but for the first Christmas in the nearly seven years her husband has been a prisoner of war, Louise Mulligan is willing to hope.

"You get frustrated by the talks. There's nothing you can do," said Mrs. Mulligan, wife of Cmdr. James A. Mulligan, a Navy pilot. "But now I honestly feel the war is going to end by Christmas."

Five weeks ago, when presidential aide Henry A. Kissinger announced that peace was near, Louise and some of the other 21 wives from this coastal Navy town whose husbands are prisoners or missing, reacted with skepticism.

After enduring years of frustration, disappointment, dashed hopes and rearing children alone, most dared not hope.

"Once a cease-fire is signed, I feel every effort will be made to get the prisoners home as soon as possible. There is tremendous hope among the wives now," Mrs. Mulligan said.

This year, Louise has her husband's present whether he celebrates Christmas at home with his family — or has to again spend it in Hanoi.

"I have one to put under the tree, and one ready to be mailed to him. I'm not taking any chances," she added.

Bidding quiz

You are South, both sides vulnerable. The bidding has been:

| East | South | West | North |
|------|-------|------|-------|
| 1 ♣  | Dble  | Pass | 1 ♥   |
| Pass | ?     |      |       |

What would you bid now with each of the following five hands?

1. ♠AK95 ♥J8 ♦KQ92 ♣AJ6
2. ♠AQ4 ♥KJ963 ♦AJ8 ♣53
3. ♠K82 ♥KQ74 ♦AK973 ♣5
4. ♠KQ98 ♥J95 ♦AQ76 ♣Q4
5. ♠AK ♥QJ82 ♦KQJ95 ♣7

1. One notrump. When partner responds in minimum terms to a double, you must proceed with caution, for partner does not require any high-card strength for his bid. The fact is that quite often he will have a poor hand when he makes a minimum response.

In this sequence the notrump bid shows 17 or 18 points, give or take a point. It would not be wise to bid a spade, which would indicate five spades and suggest greater distributional values.

2. Two hearts. Since the double is not required to bid again when partner responds in minimum terms, any further bid — especially a raise in partner's suit — guarantees values clearly beyond a minimum takeout double. The raise to two hearts in the present case just about makes the grade. To jump-raise to three would be much too optimistic opposite a partner who was forced to respond to the double.

3. Three hearts. This hand is far more promising than the previous one, though it has the same high-card point count. If North had as little as five hearts to the ace, you would have a good shot at game.

4. Pass. There are no values here beyond those expressed by the double, and a pass is clearly in order. A further bid would suggest extra strength and could lead to all kinds of trouble. There cannot be a game, for partner failed to make a jump response to the double.

5. Four hearts. Experience strongly indicates it is best to jump to game with this layout, even though partner may have an absolutely worthless hand and lose A-K-A-A. The trouble with a conservative raise to only three hearts is that partner may have some dreadful-looking hand, containing nothing more than four or five hearts to the king, and pass.

Point count is not a good criterion in hands of this type. Instead the hand should be evaluated on the basis of tricks, for they are what really count in bridge.

Reshuffled OSU meets Missouri

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fred Taylor, unhappy with the play of his Ohio State basketball team so far, will start burly sophomore forward Bill Andreas against unbeaten Missouri Saturday.

"We want to try to run and he'll give us more size and strength," Taylor said of the 6-foot-7, 215-pound Andreas. He replaces 6-3 Bob Siekmann at forward. "We've played about 30 minutes in three games," Taylor said about his squad, 2-1. "We're going through the motions, and we're much too individualistic."

The contest is the feature of a 26-game schedule for Ohio colleges Saturday.

Missouri has ripped by four straight opponents at home, including Purdue 84-75 Wednesday night. John Brown, a 6-7 senior who scored a career high 35 points against the Boilermakers, impresses Taylor.

"For his size," Taylor said of Brown, "he's a real piece of work inside. He's just a super player."

Brown averaged nearly 22 points in leading the Tigers to their best record in history, 21-6, last winter before making the Olympic squad.

A broken foot in practice, however, kept the 220-pound Brown from actually playing in the Olympics.

Ohio State assistant Coach Bob Burkholder saw the Tigers beat Ohio

University, recalling, "They're very active, quick and solid."

Four holdover starters are joined in the Missouri lineup by 6-5 forward Felix Jerman, the No. 1 scorer and rebounder on the freshman team a year ago. The veterans are 6-5 forward Al Aberhard, guards Orr Salmon, a 6-footer, and 6-3 Mike Jeffries and Brown.

Meanwhile, Cincinnati and host Miami, a pair of unbeaten, clash in a top Ohio independent game.

In other contests involving major schools, Bowling Green is at Niagara, Ohio University at Northwestern, Michigan at Dayton, Xavier at Houston, Cleveland State at Toledo and Kent State in the Vanderbilt Classic.

The Mid-American has no conference dates Saturday. However, there are two each involving state squads in the Ohio, Hoosier-Buckeye and Presidents Conferences.

Muskingum, with its second Ohio Conference triumph, can deadlock Capital for the early league lead at 2-0. The Muskies need a victory at Mount Union. Kenyon visits Baldwin-Wallace in the OC game.

Defending Presidents champion Hiram makes its league debut at home against Washington and Jefferson while John Carroll travels to Bethany in the PC.

The Hoosier-Buckeye contests send Defiance to Taylor and Bluffton to Findlay.

Elsewhere, Capital is at Ball State, Heidelberg at Aquinaw, Marietta at Urbana, Tiffin at Malone, Oberlin at Carnegie Mellon, Ohio Wesleyan at Ohio Northern, Wittenberg at Akron, Wooster in the Ziel Classic at Oswego, N.Y., Lipscomb at Ashland, Ohio Dominican at Cedarville, Walsh at Rio Grande and Central State at Tri-State.

In college games Thursday night, Ohio Northern nipped Otterbein in overtime as freshman guard Charlie Just scored 17 points; Central State steamrolled Kenyon 71-55; Wheeling, W. Va., bounced Ohio Dominican 65-43, and Georgetown, Ky., came from behind to trounce Rio Grande 86-69.

5 bowl contests headline weekend football action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With the big boys waiting in the wings for their year-end performances, five Bowl games involving college division powers headline Saturday's college football program.

There's the Grantland Rice Bowl at Baton Rouge, La., the Pioneer Bowl at Wichita Falls, Tex., the Boardwalk Bowl at Atlantic City, N.J., the Camellia Bowl at Sacramento, Calif., and the NAIA championship playoff at Commerce, Tex.

There'll be a game in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., where the only major game of the day is scheduled. Florida, 5-4-1, entertains the Atlantic Coast Conference champion North Carolina Tar Heels, 9-1, in the regular season windup for both clubs.

Running back Nat Moore of Florida needs only 37 yards to set a season rushing record for the Gators and his teammates have vowed to get him running room.

Unbeaten Louisiana Tech, 11-0, second to Delaware in the final Associated Press college division poll, tangles with Tennessee Tech, 10-1, for the NCAA Mid-east title in the Rice Bowl.

The Pioneer Bowl pairs Drake, 7-4, against Tennessee State, 9-1. The Boardwalk Bowl, which will be played indoors, pits Massachusetts, 8-2, against California-Davis, 6-1-2.

It will be the North Dakota Sioux, 9-1, against Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo, 8-0-1, in the Camellia Bowl and East

Lion frosh cagers cop second victory

The Washington C. H. Blue Lion freshman team registered its second consecutive triumph of the season Thursday night by scoring a convincing 63-23 win over Wilmington.

In other action, the Blue Lion eighth graders dropped their second squeaker in a row despite a last gasp comeback by a 37-35 count to Wilmington and the Lion seventh graders posted their second straight win by downing Wilmington 43-33.

Doug Phillips, the Blue Lion freshman pivotman, bucketed seven field goals and five free throws for 19 points and Chuck Byrd canned 14 points in leading Coach Don Gibbs' boys to their second win of the year.

Ken Hays, the Blue Lion eighth grade coach, employed some scrappy substitutes in the fourth quarter and with Texas State, 9-2, vs. Carson-Newman, 9-1-1, in the NAIA Division One championship. Missouri Southern beat Northern Iowa 21-14 last Saturday in the NAIA Division Two final.

Bowl matches top gridders

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "It's just great for Ohio college football," bubbled Jack Murphy.

Murphy talked about the first annual All-Ohio Shrine Bowl football game matching the state's top college seniors Saturday at 10 a.m. in Ohio Stadium.

The personable Toledo mentor will coach the East All Stars, while the West coaching duties are being handled by Ohio Wesleyan's Jack Fouts.

"We've got healthy bodies and we're helping ones that don't. And a lot of these kids wouldn't get a chance to play in any other bowls," Murphy continued.

Proceeds from the game, expected to attract about 30,000 to Ohio State's giant horseshoe, go to the Burns Institute in Cincinnati, a Shrine hospital for crippled children.

Murphy and Fouts wound up a week of practice today and vowed to keep their offenses simple with plenty of passing.

The Toledo coach figures, "The team that breaks the big play will win it. There a lot of athletes in the game capable of making the big play offensively and defensively."

Fouts has other thoughts.

"The team that plays great defense will have an advantage," he said. "And it will be a case of the breaks, too."

Fouts has settled on Ohio University's Dave Juenger as his starting quarterback with Ed Exler of Denison, Steve Blackburn of Findlay and Denny Whitehead of Dayton also in the West backfield.

Murphy will open with Ron Jaworski of Youngstown State or Ed Casey of Baldwin-Wallace at quarterback. The East running backs will be Joe Schwartz of Toledo, Dave Hayes of Muskingum and Mark Pruesser of Mount Union.

All of Ohio's major schools are represented except bowlbound Ohio State and Kent State.

The East team:

Running backs Pruesser, Schwartz and Hayes, quarterbacks Casey and Jaworski, wide receivers Bob Ferranti of Youngstown, Willie Avery of Baldwin-Wallace and Jeff Calabrese of Toledo, tight end Randy Blake of Marietta, tackles Russ Oechsle of Wooster, Denny Halthaus of Cincinnati, Carl Richards of Akron and John Groff of Baldwin-Wallace and center Jeff Printy of Ashland.

Deep backs Steve Traylor of Otterbein, Bill Hunter of Cincinnati, Dan

Handel of Kenyon and Bud Boughton of Ashland, linebackers Ed Bolis of Cincinnati, Denny Blake of Akron, Bob Morehouse of Wooster and Doug Thomson of Otterbein and defensive linemen Dave Lucas of Ashland and Steve Donahue and Willie Duke of Toledo.

The West team:

Running backs Exler, Blackburn and Whitehead, quarterbacks Steve Williams of Miami and Juenger, wide receivers Larry Nickels of Dayton and Ed Crabtree of Wilmington, tight end Jim Hart of Ohio Wesleyan, tackles John Czerwinski of Bowling Green and Dan Willing of Miami, guards Don Caldwell of Ohio University and Paul Molman of Miami and center Mike James of Heidelberg.

Defensive linemen John Saccomen of Miami, Mike Moran of Xavier, Lynn Sherman of Capital, Steve Kovacs of Miami, Steve Sommer of Bluffton and Earl Hargrove of Bowling Green, linebackers Ron Klawitter of Wittenberg and Jack Burkhardt of Dayton and defensive backs Mike Hittle, Defiance, Steve Croghan of Ohio Northern, Don Walker of Central State and Dwight Mosley of Dayton.

Bengals brace for cross-state rival

CINCINNATI (AP) — Wily old Paul Brown has a theory about football that says "to look back is to err."

"After it's done," he says, "there's no use worrying about it."

Thus the 27-6 drubbing inflicted on Brown's Cincinnati Bengals by the Cleveland Browns earlier this season isn't on his mind, Brown says, as the Bengals prepare to host the Browns Saturday in an important National Football League struggle.

The Bengals, 7-5, must win to retain a chance at a wild card playoff berth from the American Conference. The Browns, 8-4, can clinch the berth with a victory.

The sixth renewal of what has become a fierce cross-state rivalry begins at 1 p.m. before a national television audience and an expected Riverfront Stadium capacity crowd of about 60,000.

"I just told our people to forget about the playoffs and think about the Cleveland Browns," says the 64-year-old Brown, who molded the Cleveland team into a football dynasty before helping form the Bengal club four years ago.

"We're preparing just normally," he says, although he admits, "I guess there is a special feeling for me about playing the Cleveland Browns."

The Bengals are coming off a 13-10 victory over the New York Giants, while Cleveland still is smarting from a 30-0 blasting at the hands of the AFC Central Division leader, Pittsburgh.

Third-year man Mike Phipps directs the Cleveland attack, while second-year man Ken Anderson guides the Bengals. Both have thrown 264 passes, Phipps completing 127 for 1,687 yards and Anderson connecting an 145 for 1,636 yards.

Veteran Leroy Kelly has 691 yards on 194 rushes for the Browns, while Essex Johnson has paced the Bengals with 722 yards in 205 carries.

Both teams have strong receivers. Milt Morin has 29 catches while Frank Pitts and Fair Hooker have 28 each for the Browns.

Chip Myers has 45 grabs to lead the Bengals, who lost veteran receiver Bob Trumphy through injury against New York.

Trumpy, out for the remainder of the season, had 44 catches.

The Bengals also throw often to running back Doug Dressler, who has 32 catches thus far.

The Bengals probably will be without the services of defensive end Sherman White and middle linebacker Bill Bergey, both injured, while the Browns say defensive end Nick Roman, injured in the Pittsburgh game, "is most doubtful."

JUST FOR FUN

By: ROD RICH

Until the 1920's, when the closed car became acceptable, the motorists had quite a problem. Not an automobile problem, but a problem of protecting themselves against the elements of nature, such as wind, dust and freezing rain. Of course, in cold weather, one could simply store his car, but rain and dust were threats the year round.

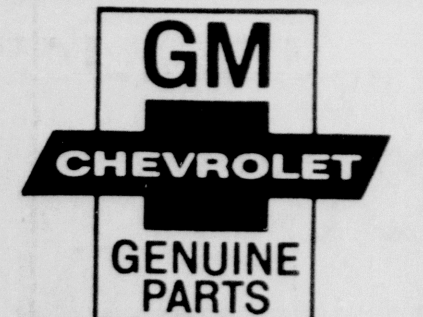

This problem was solved, when many clothing companies came out with special apparel, designed exclusively for motoring, for both men and women. To the modern motorist of today, these costumes would seem grotesque and ridiculous, but they were quite fashionable as well as necessary, then. Among the most popular items were: the woman's motor hat with dust curtain, the lady's ankle length rubber rain coat, the neck, car and chest muffler and the dust coat, cap and goggles.

The modern way to satisfy that urge to travel, is by way of a stealthy, stylish HONDA motorcycle. HONDA is easy to operate, easy to park, easy on the budget and comes in a variety of models bursting with power and brimming with special features that make every HONDA king of the open road. We also carry an exciting line of handsome accessories.

The rascally Blue Lions will travel to Wilmington, while the Panthers are embarking on what is usually the most dreaded road trip among SCOL teams when they pay a visit to Greenfield. In other action, unbeaten Circleville entertains Hillsboro.

In addition to the three SCOL games tonight, Washington C.H., Miami Trace and Greenfield will clash with non-league foes Saturday.

THE SCOL title scramble, expected to be one of the toughest in a decade has Washington C.H., Miami Trace and Circleville sharing the top perch with identical 1-0 records after last Friday night's opening struggles.

And it appears as if the crowded race will be in the same situation about 10 p.m. tonight as Washington C.H., Miami Trace and Circleville all should emerge with victories.

Gary Shaffer, the crafty Washington C.H. boss, will be shooting for his ninth straight win over Wilmington since becoming the Blue Lion taskmaster five seasons ago when his charges invaded the Richardson Place gym.

The Lions will also be hoping to pad a two-game winning streak in the tussle against Wilmington. The Hurryin' Hurricane has dropped two of three contests this year.

One-licked Miami Trace will be searching for its 20th win over Greenfield in a series which dates back to the Panthers' basketball baptism in 1961-62 when third-year head coach Jan Stauffer's forces meet the winless and pint-sized Tiger quintet.

The Panthers are hoping for a second consecutive win when the lopsided series with Greenfield is renewed on the diminutive McClain hardwood.

Elsewhere, the always-tough Circleville Tigers will be gunning for their fourth victory in a row when the stubborn Hillsboro Indians come calling.

THE CONTEST will feature three of the SCOL's top pointmakers and slick-shooting Don Jewett, who owns an early lead in this year's scoring derby, holds Hillsboro's hopes of cracking a two-game nosedive.

On Saturday, Washington C.H., Miami Trace and Greenfield will be trying to improve a 5-6 record posted by SCOL teams against non-league competition.

The Blue Lions will entertain future SCOL member Madison Plains, while Miami Trace travels to Chillicothe and Greenfield goes to East Clinton.

lead in the SCOL scoring derby with a neat 23.0 mark after two games and will risk the top spot when the Indians travel to Circleville tonight.

JEWETT, a slick-shooting 6-foot-2 senior, has bagged the 23.0 credentials on the basis of 18 field goals and 10 free throws for 46 points and the nifty scoring credentials will be at stake when he meets Dan Graham and Dave Truex, of Circleville, who are tied for third place in the statistics.

Both Graham and Truex identical 17.0 scoring averages after three contests, and Truex is hoping to score at least 374 points this year to become the top pointmaker in Tiger basketball history.

Pete Jones, Miami Trace's senior shotsmith, ranks second in the early SCOL scoring race with a nifty 18.0 average on the basis of 54 points in three outings.

Greenfield peppercorn Buddy Kennedy follows the Circleville scoring twins in the race with a 16.5 mark and Miami Trace cornerman Muff Jones is hitting the twine at a 15.7 point per game rate.

McAshan suspended by Georgia Tech

ATLANTA (AP) — Quarterback Eddie McAshan's playing days at Georgia Tech, where he shattered 17 school passing records, are over.

Although Tech still has a Dec. 18 contest at the Liberty Bowl in Memphis, Tenn., McAshan will not be making the trip.

win MVP awards

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Linebacker Jim O'Malley, a senior from Youngstown, Ohio, and fullback Andy Huff, of Toledo, Ohio, are co-recipients of the Notre Dame Most Valuable Player award for 1972.

The awards were announced Thursday night at the 53rd annual Irish football banquet at South Bend.

O'Malley led the 8-2 Irish in tackles with 122, and Huff was the second leading rusher and led the team in scoring with 10 touchdowns.

Maravich, Hawks top Bulls

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"He's the guy who creates the action," says Atlanta Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons. And Pete Maravich surely created some action for the Hawks against the Chicago Bulls.

Maravich scored eight straight points to tie the Bulls at 86-86 and send the National Basketball Association game into overtime Thursday night. He then scored five of the Hawks' eight extra-period points as they won 94-89.

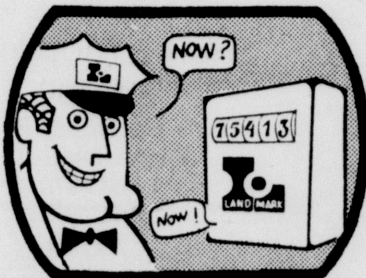

Maravich finished with 39 points. Bob Love topped Chicago with 26.

In the only other NBA game, Neal Walk scored 27 points and Charlie Scot 25 as Phoenix snapped a three-game losing streak by scoring a 117-102 victory at Pittsburgh over the Philadelphia 76ers, who were led by Kevin Loughery with 25.

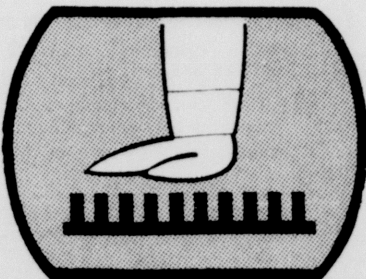

Virginia edged Indiana 132-129 and Denver walloped San Diego 108-89 in the only American Basketball Association action.

Brokers make pitch to small investors

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The term "small investor" is "demeaning and totally inappropriate," the speaker told the assembly of graduate business students. "It is belittling; it should be dropped from the vernacular."

As used by the brokerage community, he continued, it is a term of condescension, implying that the more important customer is the institution and that the small investor therefore is a second-class citizen.

There is little new in such an observation when made by a small investor. It is the attitude of brokers that big is better, in fact, that has alienated so many ordinary Americans and driven them into other investments.

But the comments, so typical of small investors, were made by Arthur Levitt, Jr., head of Hayden Stone Inc., a major brokerage house. And they were among other provocations that made his talk a significant document in the evolution of Wall Street.

Speaking at the Columbia University Business School this week about what he said were "personal feelings not shared by a number of my associates," Levitt suggested that "unaffiliated" or "individual" or "consumer" be used in place of "small."

He explained that if brokers remembered that "while institutions today do over 60 per cent of the trading, individual investors own over 60 per cent of the stock," they would realize the unproductiveness of their snobishness.

Because of the broker-institution alliance, the small investor usually obtains poorer research, receives less attention, and is accorded less overall solicitude, said Levitt.

This, he suggested, is opposite to the proper attitude. "In my judgment," he said, "the consumer investor needs more time and consideration, more guidance and more education than the institutional investor..."

A cause of the inferior service, he stated, is the existence of a compensation system that rewards the broker for making sales while he poses in the conflicting role of adviser.

Stating what a lot of small investors have been saying for years, he argued that the quest for commissions might tempt some salesmen to "suggest portfolio changes when their best judgment told them this was a time to do nothing."

In his own personal view, he said, the answer to this dilemma is to take salesmen off commissions, to raise the standards of training, and to inspire them with a sense of professionalism that is badly lacking.

"What we should strive for is the creation of job security for professional brokers who have the welfare of the investor as their foremost objective," he said.

This, he continued, would require a basic salary structure rather than commissions. In addition, the salesman broker would be paid for bringing in new accounts, for making few mistakes, for longevity, for maintaining customer loyalty.

Such a system is being considered by some firms, but as Levitt said after the address, "it will take guts to implement," mainly because if other firms don't follow it will put the innovator at a disadvantage. Still, he said it must be at least considered as the way of the future.

Basic to such a plan, he feels, a better training. You will understand this need, he said, when you "think of the responsibility carried by a broker who counsels an individual on the management of his total life's savings."

"We should strive towards formal academic programs and proficiency testing similar to other nonscientific professions and we should enlist the aid of universities and business schools," he told the students.

Levitt spoke to the students, he said, because he viewed their forum as an opportunity to introduce concepts for discussion. It is impractical to institute some of the concepts now, he said, but not soon enough to begin working toward them.

While the students were receptive to his suggestions, some adverse criticism already has been heard in The Street, where traditions, good or bad, die slowly.

Farmers faced with real weather problems

It seems like the farmers just can't win this year; they're ready, willing and very anxious to get on with their harvest, but the weather has been against them ever since their corn was to pick and their soybeans ready for the combine.

No matter how hard they tried, no matter whether they went into the fields, even when the weather was such that they should have waited, they could get only a few acres harvested before they had to give up.

And, to compound their problems, the grain was just plain wet; it had to be dried and that was an added expense as well as quite a chore.

THE PLIGHT of John Arnold, Jasper-Coil Rd., and his son, Wayne, Palmer Rd., may not be exactly typical of all Fayette County farmers, but it is indicative of the problems they face and the lengths to which they are not going to harvest their grain, which has been standing in the rain-soaked fields for more than two months.

They moved into the corn field at 7:30 a.m. Thursday with their picker-sheller and kept it going without letup until after 3 a.m. when they were forced to give up because of the incessant drizzle of rain, which had started about noon.

The ground had a light frozen crust, when they started, but eventually the heavy equipment bogged down in spots and by 3 a.m. they had to give up. They had harvested only about 30 acres, because they were slowed down by the soft ground, and worse, by the soggy stalks clogging the picker. They now have about 80 acres of corn picked — but there are more than 200 acres still standing.

As fast as a load was picked and shelled in the field it was hauled to the drier on the farm, but eventually they had to give that up because the grain was so moisture-laden it was not practical to continue until later. The Arnolds had planned to store about 20,000 bushels on the farm for livestock feed; whether the weather will change that is still uncertain.

THE ARNOLDS have managed to combine about two-thirds of their 200 acres of soybeans and are still hoping to get the rest before it is too late.

Like many farmers always have done for years, the Arnolds and their neighbors pool their labor and resources. As a rule, the farmers finish their own harvest first and then pitch in and help their neighbors. The Arnolds said they have plenty to keep them busy with the rest of their own and neighbors' harvest.

The one bright spot in an otherwise dismal picture for the Arnolds is that they have all their wheat sowed.

Home contest in Jeff area

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP)— Two Ross County voting machines were taken to the Chillicothe Correctional Institute Thursday for use by prisoners electing members of the Inmate Council.

Election judges from neighboring counties and representatives of Concern, a group that works for rehabilitation of convicts, observed the voting.

year in a row in a home Christmas decorating contest sponsored by the Jeffersonville Chamber of Commerce. Plans for the second annual decorating contest were made final at a meeting of the Chamber at DeWine's steakhouse Thursday at noon.

Prizes will be awarded in each of three categories: original, religious and best use of electric lighting to portray the spirit of the Yuletide.

The homes will be judged by teams of the Chamber of Commerce on a date yet to be announced. Homeowners outside the village who would like to have their decorations considered are to call Larry Milstead, 426-6384.

The youth was accused of removing equipment from a farm tractor and destroying it by target-practicing while on a hunting trip. Restitution for the damage already has been made, the court reported.

UNRULY CHILDREN

Two Fayette County boys, one 16 and the other 17, were adjudged to be unruly children for truancy following hearings in Juvenile Court Thursday. One was placed on probation and the other was committed to the detention quarters of the Fayette County Jail and ordered to attend school daily from those quarters.

A 16-year-old girl who was a resident of the Fayette County Children's Home when she ran away Nov. 5, was returned to the custody of that facility Thursday following hearing in which she was adjudged unruly. The girl was taken into custody in Morrow County and returned here by the Sheriff's Department.

Jeff Council gets sewer job reports

JEFFERSONVILLE — One part of the sanitary sewer installation by Contract Services, Inc., is 62 per cent complete and the other part in the business district is 6 per cent complete, David Settle, the project engineer for Schirtzinger and Associates, of Chillicothe, reported to Council Thursday night.

He also said that the part under contract with Coates Brothers (about a third of the total system) is 48 per cent complete.

Mayor Donald M. Morrow reported that County Engineer Charles P. Wagner had told him about four blocks of Railroad Street, between Ohio 41 and Creamer Avenue, will be excavated and graveled next week to provide the base for the surfacing next spring. Gravel will permit traffic during the winter the mayor said. Railroad Street, between Creamer Avenue and High Street, will be resurfaced also next spring, but Mayor Morrow said that there are no plans for excavating this portion of the street.

Street Commissioner Lawrence Sharrett was authorized to enter into a contract for the installation of a storm sewer under the DT&I Railroad at Creamer Avenue. The cost was estimated a $1,000.

An ordinance accepting the Wood-sview subdivision of 60 lots was placed on its second reading and an ordinance establishing a revenue-sharing fund was adopted as an emergency measure.

Bills totaling approximately $2,000, included the annual salaries of $180 each for the six councilmen were approved. The mayor, clerk and other village officers are paid on a monthly basis.

Missing girl found, cited

A 17-year-old Washington C. H. girl, missing from her home since Sunday, was apprehended by city police Thursday night and incarcerated in the county jail on an unruliness charge.

Officers said the girl was found in a Central Place home where she apparently had spent Wednesday night. The girl told officers she had been staying with different people since Sunday.

She was remanded to the juvenile section of the county jail on order of Judge Omar Schwartz.

The girl was last reported seen Sunday when she left her grandfather's residence.

OFFICERS also investigated what appeared to be a suicide attempt by a 17-year-old Washington senior High School student.

According to the report the girl had taken an overdose of prescription medicine at the school just after noon. One of the girl's friends told police she had taken the pills because she did not want to attend a bookkeeping class.

She was released after treatment. Marsha Lightner, of 1139 Gregg St., reported the theft of a bag containing gift wrapping and children's clothing from her car Thursday.

She told officers she had placed the bag in her car parked on the Washington Square lot and returned to the store for the rest of her merchandise. When she returned the bag was gone.

A shoplifting complaint at Buckeye Mart also was checked by police Thursday. Officers said a man had entered the store and taken a pair of boots from a rack. The man then apparently wore the boots out of the store, leaving his old shoes in their place. No charges were filed in the incident.

The Winter Quarter begins Jan. 3 and runs through March 16.

Unions ponder high court ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unions are likely to try to make it tougher for their members to quit during a strike now that the Supreme Court has curbed their power to fine defecting strikebreakers.

This is one possible way around Thursday's 8-1 decision that a member who voted to support a strike can go back to work without fear of punishment as long as he quit the union first.

At that point, said Justice William O. Douglas, "the union has no more control over the former member than it has over the man in the street."
